United War Chest Drive Over Quota

Scrap Metal Drive Will Start

Need of More Metal Shown

County Judge A. H. Hunt Urges That All Scrap Be Marketed to Help War

Another nation-wide scrap metal drive will start in Texas on November 1st, stated Judge A. H. Hunt, county chairman.

Plans are being made to see that all available scrap metal in Randall county is turned over to the junk dealers, who are under the supervision of the government, and are required to ship the metal to foundries as it is needed.

Those who have old metal which has not been marketed are urged to start now hauling it to the junk dealers.

Scrap metal requirements for war production are more than four times the amount consumed normally, Judge Hunt points out, in urging all-out participation in the "Victory Scrap Bank" drive.

"No matter how much scrap we have collected in the past we will continue to need more and more. This year's steel requirements for war have been authoritatively estimated at one hundred million tons. With production of war equipment accelerating and our armed forces using increased quantities of military supplies in offensive action on all fronts, we must assure still greater steel production next year. This cannot be done without scrap metal. Scrap constitutes at least half of the total steel output."

"Failure to route an old farm machine, a jalopy or miscellaneous other idle or worn-out iron and steel items into scrap channels may mean that American fighting men will lack proper equipment just when they need it most," said Judge Hunt.

Mr. Hunt urged the residents of Randall county to round up all scrap iron and steel and put it in the "Victory Scrap Bank," to be sorted and delivered to the steel mills as it is needed. He said that the community scrap pile should be regarded as an arsenal, a necessary safeguard against any lag in war production.

Coldest Blast of Fall Wednesday a. m. Mercury at 29

Yesterday morning was the coldest of the fall.

The mercury dropped to 29 degrees above zero. The temperature registered 80 degrees Monday afternoon, but had dropped to 38 Tuesday morning. A brisk norther Tuesday afternoon dropped the temperature to the lowest point of the fall Wednesday morning.

Farmers have practically all of their feed saved, and are planting wheat "in the dust" in many places over the county. The lack of moisture will be a real handicap to stockmen, who have been accustomed to fine wheat pasture during the winter. This will not be possible during the winter unless there is plenty of moisture at once.

The threatened crack-down on news print has not come from Washington but is expected any day. The government has decreed that daily newspapers must reduce their consumption of paper, and the only way to do this is reduce the number of subscribers.

The Canyon News is sending in renewals for the Amarillo News. The rate is $9.45 for both newspapers.

We were advised yesterday:

"You may continue to take renewals of subscriptions until the government tells us to stop. Those who have not renewed at that time will not be able to renew, as it will then be impossible to take subscriptions."

Again we urge: If you wish a daily newspaper for the coming year, send in your renewals at once. Those who are cut off will have no one to blame but themselves, as the consumption of paper must be reduced. No matter when your subscription expires, it will be extended by making payment now.

All Committees Urged to Make Reports Before the End of This Week

Randall county went over the $2,100 War Chest quota at noon Saturday, and since that time the fund has been steadily mounting.

The county's total had reached $3,474.42 Wednesday morning. There are a few more soliciting committees to report, and this total will be increased considerably before the end of the week.

County Chairman Milton Morris urges that all committees complete their reports by Saturday so that a full report may be made.

Randall county was the first Panhandle county to report that the quota for the United War Chest had been raised. Mr. Morris is high in his praise for the splendid work which was done by all committees of the county. He wishes to express his thanks for the splendid way in which the campaign was handled. Receipts were written for each contribution by Mrs. K. E. Frieze and Mrs. Earl Oldham in the office of Southwestern Public Service Co.

The farmers of Randall county were given a quota of $1060 to be raised for the United War Chest. The Agricultural Victory Council was assigned the job of collecting the money through the neighborhood leaders in each community. The drive was officially started Monday, October 18. To S. L. Robinson of the Sunny Hill community went the honor of being the first worker to complete his job of securing a contribution from every person on his list by Saturday afternoon before the drive was scheduled to open on Monday.

Out of a total of 55 neighborhood leaders 50 had turned in their reports to the treasurer by October 23. Two others completed their assignments early this week. Only three are still to report.

With the three reports still out, the total paid by the farmers stands at $1809.01. Individual contributions ranged from 1c to $50.00. Every community exceeded their quota except one and this community has one of three neighborhoods yet to be completed.

Farmers of Randall county always do their part when they understand the need and are given the right opportunity.

To the neighborhood leaders go the credit for doing the hard work. They made their own cash contributions and in addition drove their own automobiles an estimated average of one mile for every dollar collected.

Chairman W. J. Wooten wishes to express his appreciation to the teachers of the county who issued the new book Friday and Saturday.

Federal Income Tax Curbs

As our public debt moves rapidly toward 300 billion dollars with no ceiling in sight, taxation becomes a number one family problem along with food, clothing and shelter. There is no use to merely kick about taxes. Everyone has got to pay taxes, more taxes than they ever dreamed of paying, more taxes than they ever thought they could pay.

The thing to kick about is waste and extravagance in the use of public funds.

The thing to demand is economy in tax spending.

The end to work for is an adjustment of tax levies so that instead of discouraging industries and individuals, they will be encouraged to produce, and allowed to retain enough of their earnings so there will be incentive for expansion, which means the building up of greater taxable assets and more jobs.

That the need for such a long-range program is recognized, is evidenced by a growing taxes on incomes, inheritances and gifts, shall be limited to a maximum of 25 per cent, except that in the case of war, the limitation may be temporarily suspended by a three-fourths vote of each House. To date, 15 states have passed a resolution favoring such an amendment—Wyoming, Rhode Island, Mississippi, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Indiana, Arkansas, Deleware, Pennsylvania, Texas, Illinois, Wisconsin, Alabama. If a sufficient number of states show there is a substantial demand for the amendment, Congress, without waiting for its adoption by 32 states, could pass a resolution proposing the amendment and submit it to the states for ratification in the usual way.

Deserters, What Else?

The head of the American Legion, in addressing labor leaders, said that a man who lays down his tools on a war job to strike is just as guilty of an act of treason as a soldier who deserts his post of duty.

Labor leaders bitterly assailed this viewpoint, but their arguments are unconvincing. Morally, it is no less treasonable for a man to throw down his tools which provide a soldier with equipment to fight than it is for the soldier to throw down his weapons and refuse to fight.

Strikes cannot justify desertion of war jobs. In leaving their posts, they are traitors to a common cause, even though they enjoy immunity from punishment such as would be meted out to soldiers who desert.

Government economy has been promised after nearly two years of war. The excuse in Washington for wastefulness is that a big job had to be done in a hurry, therefore, more people were put to work than were needed, and higher wages were paid as an incentive for labor. But this theory has not worked out. After Pearl Harbor all Americans were patriotic enough to want to throw their full effort into the war program. The government boosted wage prices, and hoarded manpower. Men and women were put to work doing unnecessary jobs, or given positions for which they were not fitted, all receiving ridiculous wages. Workers in essential plants quit in order to rush into these soft jobs, leaving these industries short of manpower. Those who stayed on their jobs then had an excuse to demand more money. The President refused to put a ceiling on labor when he attempted to freeze prices. The whole thing has become a mess, with one group pitted against another in their demands for more and more wages. And in the meanwhile, the administration holds onto the 40-hour week and other depression measures are something sacred. Strikes are on the increase, while white collared workers and the small business men are being squeezed between a rock and a hard place. Where will it end? Not until the war ends all of this, or another administration comes along with an attempt to introduce a few sound business policies, and is not such a reckless spender.

Drafting of fathers is being opposed by the state police force of Texas. A sound argument is made that when fathers are taken into the armed forces child delinquency increases. The position is well taken, and is something for Washington to think about.

Credit Due Local Merchants

Probably no business has had more burdensome detail to comply with in carrying out rationing and price regulations, than have the retail stores of the country. Almost oversight, their buying and selling methods were revolutionized, and their banking and bookkeeping greatly complicated. On top of that, they have faced a manpower shortage more serious than most businesses. Only the inbred ingenuity and determination of the American merchant could have met the impact of such drastic changes, and at the same time maintained service to consumers.

Official data appears to demonstrate that retail food distributors have fared worse and performed better than other more articulate and better organized groups. Food distributors are in a large measure responsible for holding the "Cost of Food Index" at a relatively low level compared to average earnings of United States labor.

It is apparent from the Index figures that retail food distributors cannot properly be charged with "profiteering" and the Index may well indicate the justification for certain price adjustments. It is but fair to give credit to any industry that has made such a record as have the food stores under such drastic operating conditions as they must meet.

Paste This In Your Hat

What is the matter with our so-called business and political leaders who chant: "Capitalism has one more chance," or "Private enterprise has one more chance after the war," or we will have a totalitarian government? Do they really believe what they say? If so, they better not advertise their panic.

We are fighting a war to preserve freedom. We wouldn't be licking the Axis if we would surrender the right to say and do what we please, and raise our families as we please, because someone promised to fill our stomachs.

Vice President Henry Wallace got a cool reception in Dallas where he barnstormed last week attempting to line up 4th term support. Naturally he was greatly interested in second term support for himself, perhaps more so than he was willing to admit. Business is handicapped by many of the absurd rulings of the New Dealers, but Wallace would pile up our burdens. He has been crusading against business with the idea that some bureaucrat in Washington should tell each of us just what we should do. Wallace seems to forget—if he ever knew—that free enterprise is responsible for the greatness of America. Had not free enterprise built the great industries it would have taken New Dealers 10 years to bring our war production up to the stage that it reached one year after Pearl Harbor. Of course neither the President or the Vice President have much of an idea as to what industry means since neither have had to work for what they own.

If Attorney General Gerald C. Mann reads the newspapers of Texas he is no doubt amazed that the publishers are so frank in expressing their disapproval of his blast against Governor Stevenson. So far we have not found a friendly statement. Few Texans believe that Mann is following the safe political course in swinging onto the coattail of the President, trying to ride into office. Congressman Johnson failed; Jimmie Allred failed; and we believe that Gerald C. Mann will fail if he makes the race on the issue of becoming a rubber stamp Governor. The people of Texas will no doubt support the President for a 4th term as a matter of fear of making a change during the war, but they are going to be mighty independent in choosing other officials. The voters might support the fearless Attorney General because he has been independent in the past. But they are not interested in his candidacy as another rubber stamp.

If the people suffer a coal shortage this winter, the blame will have to be laid squarely in the lap of government and labor, because the wage, labor, hour and price question is wholly in their hands. If workmen could only see it, they are undermining the very freedom they enjoy by forcing stricter government control of their actions in order to maintain coal production—and production will be maintained. Only the most foolhardy labor leaders will sanction labor trouble in the coal mines now.

Secretary Hull seems to be getting along pretty well with the diplomats of Russia and England. Hull is a hard hitting realist, and no doubt talks the kind of language that they understand in realistic Russia. The present conference holds the world's safety in its hands. If a sound, solid, tri-power alliance can be reached, war can be outlawed. But if either of the three nations refuses to play ball with the the other two, we had as well get ready for World War III in another 25 years.

While the isolationist sentiment in the U. S. Senate is small, it is extremely loud. These Senators cannot be convinced that they are responsible for the present war, but still have the opinion that our two oceans make us safe. They fail to see that if the Japs had come back just once more our fleet would have been destroyed at Pearl Harbor, and we would have been helpless.

The NEW Winning of the West

The first unit of the Santa Fe System Lines back in 1868

JUST 75 years ago this week, October 30, 1868, rail was laid on the first unit of the Santa Fe System Lines—a 17-mile stretch in Kansas from Topeka to Carbondale.

Today, Santa Fe System Lines are over 13,000 miles long, serving people and products from Illinois to California, and from Colorado to the Gulf of Mexico.

Looking Ahead

Farsighted men, even years back, began looking ahead to the Southwest and West not only as a land of enchantment and natural resources but as the coming theater of industrial expansion in this country.

The war has brought home the soundness of this vision—big things are happening today in the states of Santa Fe land.

States served by the Santa Fe

Thousands are flocking to Texas—great state of farm, factory and free enterprise—to man its booming plants, cultivate its soil, and ride its far-reaching ranges.

Kansas is becoming famous for its plane factories and munition plants, as well as its golden wheat fields.

Arizona is winning new fame in the fields of agriculture, live-stock, mining, and as an aviation center.

Oklahoma's oil is writing bright new pages in the science of war, and advances for the peace to come.

Freight cars are rolling out of New Mexico loaded with essential copper, potash and zinc, as well as steers and sheep.

Illinois, Missouri and Iowa are saying it around the world with factory and food products.

The lead and silver and coal from Colorado's mineral-filled mountains are doing great things toward winning a war.

And in California, steel mills, shipyards, power dams, plane plants and lumber mills are working around the clock to supply more, more, and more of the sinews of war.

Santa Fe all the way for U. S. A.!

We of the Santa Fe are too busy "keeping 'em rolling" for Victory to take time off to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the laying of our first rail.

This is, however, an appropriate time to point out how important to the development of this New West has been the linking together of its States by Santa Fe rails. We are naturally proud to be part of this great development.

Sixteen Students Are Honored

Who's Who Representative To Be Listed in "Who's Who" Official Publication

At a meeting of the Student Welfare Committee recently, sixteen students were chosen to be listed in Who's Who.

Each year the editors of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" ask some college official or group to recommend students to be listed in this publication. The Student Welfare Committee, of which Dr. Harris M. Cook is chairman, chooses these in this college. This year each department in the college was asked to make recommendations, and these recommendations were tabulated, and final selections were made by the Student Welfare Committee. This committee is composed of Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Dr. Lee Johnson, Mr. Mitchell Jones, Miss Edna Graham, Mrs. Geraldine Green and Miss Margaret Barrett, and Dr. Harris M. Cook, Chairman.

Two farmers had many arguments as to which could grow the best produce. One day one of them sent his son to borrow the other's saw.

"What might he want it for?" the latter asked.

"Well," said the boy, "he's got a cabbage so big he says he'll want the saw to cut it in half before he can get it into the wheelbarrow."

"Go back and tell him he can't have it. I've got it fast in a potato," was the reply.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

The basis of all literature is wonderment—perception of the miracle that "nature sends up violets and paints them blue." As Kipling said, "I saw naught commonplace in Thy world." Tennyson marveled at a little flower in a crannied wall. The Savior declared, "Except ye become as a little child, ye shall in no wise enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

What some of the editors are saying:

L. C. Kirgan's Fairfield Recorder: I note, a local man said yesterday, that we now have to guess on what our income will be and if we miss it, we will be fined an evtra assessment. This makes the whole thing a matter of guesswork. Congress has had us guessing about everything else for the past 10 years and now we must guess about what our income will be. . . . If I had been a member of Congress that passed the present pay-as-you-go income tax law, I would have been afraid to come home on a vacation and face my constituents.

Kerrville Times: We have held to the view, and still have that opinion, that those in charge of affairs at Washington are in far better position to be informed as to the real situation in the global war in which we are engaged than outsiders could possibly be. Our war leaders at Washington not only have inside information far surpassing that of the ordinary citizen but upon their shoulders rests the responsibility of waging the war so as to win a complete victory. The man on the street does not have the responsibility of making decisions vital to the war effort. To our way of thinking, that fact makes a vast difference between him and our leaders, who almost sweat blood over difficult problems that confront them.

A. J. Stricklin, Sr., in Terry County Herald: When and if we pipe all our oil and natural gas out of Texas, East Texas will have nothing else to do except squirrel hunt and West Texans can get caught up with their coyote hunting. All our big reserves will be used to further industrialize the East.

A good old preacher who was visiting in a home dropped his set of false teeth through a grating on the porch. Neither he nor his hosts could devise any way to get them out as the bars were too close together to reach through and too firmly embedded to be removed. But the small boy of the family said: "Wait a minute." He returned in a little while with a string, with a chicken bone tied on one end. He lowered the bone thru the grating and the teeth, through force of habit, clamped down on the chicken bone and he drew them out!

Hallowe'en To Be Held Tonight

Activities Will Begin At 9:00 Thursday, Closes at 11:30

Final arrangements are being made for the All-School Frolic to be held on the W. T. Campus tonight beginning at 9:00.

Students, all faculty members, the 350th Army Air Corps, and citizens of Canyon are invited. Due to the fact that arrangements are being made to care for the approximate number included in this group, it is impossible to extend the invitation to others.

The program will begin with a Concert and Amateur Hour conducted in the Administration Building Auditorium. In this program music will be furnished by the Buffalo Band under the direction of Mr. M. J. Newman. Although Mr. Newman has not announced his program, he has promised that students will find the program one they can really enjoy. Mr. Newman and Mr. J. H. Butler, Speech Department Head, are planning an amateur show in connection with the concert which will present several student groups of singers and musicians. Professor Butler hopes to find material from this program to build a travelling unit for programs in various army camps and high schools of this region. Students interested in this type of activity are urged to contact either Mr. Newman or Mr. Butler today.

Beginning at 10:00 in Burton Gymnasium, free skating will be featured. The skates are made available for this occasion through the courtesy of the Student Christian Association. This student organization, under the sponsorship of Dr. A. K. Knott, will have charge of the program in the Gymnasium. Some form of additional entertainment may be offered during the evening. Either a basketball game or a brief session of volley ball between two groups may be offered at the intermission period of skating.

Beginning at 10:00 in the Auditorium of the Education Building, there will be a free picture show. The total time for the show is approximately forty-five minutes, and two full shows will be presented during the program. The pictures include "Clyde Beatty's Animal Thrills, "Revenge on the Range," "Here Comes the Circus," and "Jack Frost," which is in technicolor.

Mrs. Geraldine Green will have charge of the ball room dancing in the Cousins Hall Ballroom. This program also begins at 10:00. Informal Hallowe'en spirit will prevail here, and the students and soldiers of the Air Detachment will find a most cordial welcome awaiting them. The Kappa Tau Phi sorority will decorate for this and the regular Saturday Night Dance.

In the Women's Gymnasium in the Administration Building Mrs. Oma Ford will have charge of the Hallowe'en Carnival. Although she has not announced her final plans, the program will include confetti-throwing, Bingo, Hit-the-Nigger-Baby, and other amusements. This program begins at 10:00. There will be a nominal charge for participation in the games, and suitable prizes will be given the winners. Pop corn will be sold by the Women's Athletic Association.

When contacted early this week regarding attendance by members of the Aviation Student Corps, Major Corbyn, commanding the detachment, indicated that in view of the announced plans for an all-college affair with Canyon citizens representing the only outside group invited, that all personnel of the 350th C. T. D. will be eligible and undoubtedly will attend one phase or another of the scheduled activities.

Future Farmer No. 1

Robert Bowman of Buttonwillow, Calif., is the new president of the Future Farmers of America, elected at the organization's Kansas City convention.

HARD TO PLEASE

A farmer had a son at college. At the end of the first year the son came home in high feather. He stood second in his class.

"Second?" said the father. "Second! Why didn't you stand first? What do you go to college for?"

The young man returned for his second year, determined to win first place. At the end of the year he returned home and announced his success.

The father looked at him for a few minutes in silence, then shrugged his shoulders, and said: "At the head of the class, eh? Well, it can't be much of a college, after all."

Overweight Motor Oil Costs You Dear

Be sure of changing to your Lightest possible grade —by having your engine Winter OIL-PLATED

Sure as you live...sure as your car must live...you'll want a change to the lightest motor oil that your engine can use this Winter of War.

Waiting for a "real cold day" before draining overweight oil that drags when it chills, is like waiting for your battery's doom. This drag of overweight oil wastes gasoline, too. And even worse is the big chance of internal damage because overweight oil won't squirt and spray into friction zones of your engine quickly. For the sake of your battery, your gasoline coupons, and your engine, change to your lightest practical grade of oil.

You can quit wondering whether "one grade heavier might be on the safe side." You can be as safe as possible with your engine OIL-PLATED by even your lightest suitable grade of Conoco N*th* motor oil. Its load-carrying capacity is doubled by synthetic means. And this also creates "magnet-like" action to keep lubricant closely fastened to inner engine surfaces, in the form of OIL-PLATING. Even the lightest grade of Conoco N*th* oil will give your engine the high protection of OIL-PLATING. Ask Your Mileage Merchant today to recommend the grade suitable for your car. Continental Oil Company

Dread Engine Acid is Fought by OIL-PLATING

Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops.

Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids.

But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

Club Members to Not Sell Grounds

Members Are Opposed to Selling Canyon Club, but Develop After the War

A number of persons have tried to buy the property of the Canyon City Club northwest of Canyon during the past few months.

J. L. Duflot, manager of the club, made a survey of the members last week for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the members were interested in selling, and the price they would ask if the land was sold.

Mr. Duflot stated that of 25 members he polled, 21 stated that they were positively against selling the club; three favored a sale, and one was in favor, conditionally.

A majority of the members believes that the property should be held for development after the war. It is ideally located for golfing, fishing and recreation.

Lt. Chas. L. F. Perryman of nLagley Field, Va., spent the week end at the home of his uncle, G. G. Foster. He met his mother, Mrs. Fred Perryman, of Austin, who had been here for a week. He returned to Hutchinson, Kansas, Sunday while his mother returned to her home in Austin. Mrs. Perryman is a sister of Mr. Foster.

Mrs. Delbert Lowes left Tuesday for Richmond, Va., where she will be joined by her husband, who will have a 10-day leave. Delbert is stationed at the Naval Base at Williamsburg, Va. It would take six days of travel for him to come home and return, so Mrs. Lowes went east to spend the furlough with him.

Ppl. George Gwyn of Fort Custer, Michigan, was home this week on a furlough. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gwyn of the north part of the county, who have five sons in the service. They were in Canyon Friday on business.

Miss Nancy Strain has returned from Austin where she has been employed in the State Welfare Department. She is being sent to the University of California in Los Angeles to make a study of this work.

Mrs. W. L. Vaughan left Friday for Chickasha, Okla., to visit her daughters, Virginia and Frances, who are studens in the college at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Taylor of Childress visited in the home of Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Berl Mayfield, over the week end.

Returned Soldiers Not Interested in Politics, But Jobs

Cal Farley of Amarillo spoke at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday on the problems of the returning soldiers. He was introduced by Tom Knighton, who was in charge of the program.

Mr. Farley, veteran of World War I, spoke frankly as to what citizens need expect when the boys return from the army. In all probability when the first men are discharged they will be met by the band and a great crowd. After the first enthusiasm, men who return will have to shift for themselves and make the best of it.

When the boys come home they will feel lost. The first thing they will look for is a job—security—on which to rebuild their lives.

The men who are engaged in actual combat will need the greatest amount of help. Men in the army who have been under shell fire will return restless—wanting to be on the move, and employers must take time to get these fellows back on their feet. They will be nervous, many shell shocked, and will need all of the sympathy which we are able to give them.

Mr. Farley does not agree with many who believe that the boys will come home to run the politics of the nation. He believes that these men will be just like those who returned in 1918-19: that they will not care who runs the government so long as they have a job and a chance to work. But these boys will be hard to handle in business. He urges employers to sit down with the boys and help them all that they can.

The boys in this war are being taught to fight in the most brutal fashion. They are taught to kill with guns and knives; they are on the constant move. The boys who went into service at 17 or 18 will come back old men, who will be hard to handle. If they are not given a chance, too many of them will end up in a life of crime, as happened following the last war.

Visitors were: Irving Tolzein, Oran Thomas, Charles James, all of Amarillo.

W. C. Johnson of Dallas was here Monday visiting his father, B. T. Johnson.

E. I. Boyce has been called to Lelia Lake on account of the serious illness of his father.

Eugene Newberry is here from Washington, D. C., on a short furlough. He is with the Signal Corps.

Helen Hinds of Amarillo visited with Charlene Henderson over the week end.

"That," obliged the zoo attendant, is a penguin."

"Huh," snorted a pompous individual, "that's not my idea of a penguin."

The attendant was all humility. "I'm sorry, sir, but it is probably the best the good Lord could do."

"Was your father a bootblack, too?" the gentleman asked the young bootblack.

"No sir. My father is a farmer."

"Well, well—I see your father believes in that old saw about making hay while the son shines."

Prevent Fires By Checking Hazards Around the Home

With the approach of winter, now is a good time to take a look at what fire can do. Fire is one of man's best friends and one of his worst enemies. The difference is in the way it is controlled. Fire records show that all fires, approximately 60% occur in the home. Every citizen should pay close attention to the following suggestions:

1. Clean up the premises—Rubbish makes convenient fuel for flames.

2. Be sure that no benzine, gasoline, naphtha, and other similar liquids are left exposed on the premises. Do not use kerosene or gasoline to start fires. Use non-inflammable fluid for removing spots from clothing, and send clothing that needs extensive cleaning to the dry cleaner.

3. On occasions such as birthdays, Hallowe'en, etc., there should be no special fire hazards in the form of candles, lanterns, and flammable decorations.

4. Use caution in handling matches and cigarettes. Careless use of these cause more home fires than any other single cause. Keep matches away from children. Do not smoke while you are in bed, in the attic, or in the garage.

5. Have all electric wiring checked to see if the insulation has become worn. Work on wiring systems should be done by professional electricians.

6. In building, use good fire-resistive materials. Fire can spread rapidly through hollow partitions and up stairways. Hollow partitions should be firestopped with incombustible material between the floors.

Every one should know what to do in case of fire. Since 1938 the property loss in this country has steadily increased. For the first 6 months of 1942 it amounted to $190,514,000. We cannot prevent this loss simply by passing resolutions or by doubling the amount of fire-fighting equipment. We can stop it only by doing the job ourselves, individually.

Bradford Black arrived home yesterday from Pittsburg, Kansas, for a short furlough in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Black. He is a student in Naval training.

Mrs. W. E. Mayhew of Austin is here visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Dickenson, this week.

The coroner has rendered no verdict.

The dead man is 27 years old. He had been working on the farm of A. L. Stevens.

Charlotte Beth Henderson of Dalhart spent the week end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Henderson.

Geraldine Hart of Dalhart spent the week end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hart.

Give Us a Buyers Market
. . . . Any Time!

Not so long ago we used to think of Paradise as a seller's market . . . no style speculation, no overloaded shelves; no returns, no jobs, no red ink.

But a war was forced on us, and in order to protect our people and the principles they stand for, our government went into a monumental production program that made a seller's market inevitable.

And from the very beginning we hated this seller's market; for it was the result of a world tragedy. And to bring back righteousness we were all asked to make sacrifices. Certainly, since we gave our sons and brothers, we should not complain about giving up a few material things.

So, among other and more important things, merchandise became scarce . . . for both you and us. And if you are unable to fill all your commitments, it is because we—and other people like ourselves—are unable to fill all our commitments. So here we are, torn by conflicting emotions; sorry we can't fill all your mounting demands for merchandise; and glad because we are all paying a price so Uncle Sam can deliver where it counts most for all of us.

So let's be thankful for what we both receive . . . the amount we are rationed, and the allotments this rationing enables us to pass along to you. And if we continue to make the necessary sacrifices (how small they are in comparison with the sacrifices our boys are making) the war will be over that much sooner.

And we'll be just as happy about it as you will be . . . for we've seen enough of this seller's market to feel that anybody who likes it is living in a fool's paradise . . . and we don't want any part of it; because we are conducting our business under the same principles and ethics we did before the war. And for a mighty good reason; we're not trading our future with you for any fleeting present . . . nor are we sacrificing the bonds of friendship, cemented with years of integrity, for any silly delusion of holding the whiphand over anybody.

Council Takes Oath of Office

"Cactus Cal is the concokshun of Campus Co-ed Cuties collarobating cokes with capable cadets from Canyon whose conscientious capital is capsizing consistently." These are the words of our greatest tongue twister upper, Lindsey Taylor, while trying to pass the time away in his algebra class.

"Great is the power of Speech!" This was the echo from fifth period study hall last Thursday when Lee Armstrong and Nadine Sterling so unknowingly interrupted the whole group of students who were studying so eagerly!?

Now J. Spencer, just because Betty Ann Simon gave you a slip of the eye while venturing into Mrs. Knott's room with an announcement is no reason for the bit of brilliant red you displayed.

The telephone is certainly a great invention. Anyway, Charles Ray Kelso put it to good use last Thursday night when he put on his armor of gallantry to ask Frances Harp for a date.

Why is it that just because two senior boys persist in hitting anyone who speaks against their girlfriends, J. Ray Hunter pinches people who say unkind things about his favorite girl—Helen Jo Cox?

INVEST IN FREEDOM

Last week students of Canyon High School put $125.50 cents into War Bonds and Stamps. This is an excellent amount, for if each student bought a twenty-five cent stamp, the total would amount to only $68.75.

Every student should realize the responsibility that being a citizen of the United States has placed upon him. In fulfilling this responsibility he should invest as much as is possible; for investing in War Bonds is investing in the best country in the world, in the future, and in freedom!

Our brothers, fathers, and friends who are overseas think nothing of giving their best, their lives, while we here at home are living in contentment, scarcely aware that a war is being fought—a war which will determine our future freedom or ensalvement.

So, students, let's not let down. Keep up the good work which we have begun so well. Buy, and keep on buying!

Dollard Takes WAC Role

Ten—shun! Forward march! Soon there will be another Texan marching through Georgia; for on the eleventh day of November, 1943, Mrs. Johnnie Dine Dollard will report for WAC duty at San Antonio, and from there will go to Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Minus her familiar bicycle, Mrs. Dollard will leave her native habitat for "foreign" territory. She was born in White Deer, lives in Amarillo, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from West Texas State College, and taught both here and at El Paso; so you can see that she is literally a true Texan.

Husband Belongs to Cavalry

It seems that Mrs. Dollard, whose husband belongs to a cavalry unit in Australia, just couldn't let her man get ahead of her. She was accepted on October 16, after several previous attempts to enter the service, and hopes to report even sooner than November 11.

For two years previously Mrs. Dollard taught in the El Paso schools. This year, in Canyon she taught seventh and eighth grade language arts and eighth grade social science.

Mrs. Dollard's tastes seem to agree with those of a great many students in Canyon High, since her favorite food is fried chicken, her favorite sports are tennis and horse back riding, and her favorite actor and actress are Tyrone Power and Bette Davis.

Canyon High Is Favored

Speaking of favorites, Canyon High School must be one of her favorites also, for here is what she said: "This is one of the most smoothly-run and well organized schools I have seen in a long time." As an after-thought, "The children are well-behaved, too." (But of course she only taught the seventh and eighth grades!)

Mrs. Dollard is the second "skirted supervisor" to join the armed service. Miss Helen Whiteside joined the WAVE last winter.

Mothers Name Two Too Many Charles

Never call merely on "Charles" in this school unless you are fully prepared for an outburst of answers coming from all parts of the room and echoing strongly throughout the atmosphere.

"Charles" seems to be unquestionably predominate as far as monikers are concerned this year. Canyon High has never before been quite so overwhelmingly blessed with such a number of students classified under the same name.

If there is no second name, or if (as in the case of Charles Ray Hillier and Charles Ray Kelso) the second names are identical, teachers frantically rack their brains for familiar nicknames or any sobriquets which will half-way fill the bill.

Just to get an idea of why teachers get grey, take a look at the following last names which are ordinarily preceded by "Charles": Schafer, Head, SoRelle, Hillier, Kelso, Taylor, Hightower, Pond, Evans, Bough, Sloan, and Wright.

Oh well, boys, what difference does it make? It's all in the name!

Victor Will Wear Carnival Crown

With each of the six candidates hoping to win the honor of Canyon High School Carnival Queen and reign throughout the school year of '43 and '44, the P. T. A. will hold their annual festivities tomorrow night at 7:30.

Activities of the evening in the high school and grade school gymnasiums will close at 10:00, when the coronation of the lucky winner will be held in the auditorium of the high school.

Immediately following the enthronement a surprise feature will be presented by the West Texas Speech and Music Departments in honor of the queen and her attendants.

Several years ago George Ade was visiting London, when he found himself feeling lonely and longing for the sight of a familiar face. Suddenly, turning a corner, he caught sight of a man ahead that he knew—or thought he knew. He rushed up eagerly and gave the man a tremendous whack on the back.

The man's glasses flew off, his hat sailed into the air, and the armload of bundles he was carrying fell into the street. And in that instant Ade discovered he was a complete stranger.

All apologies, Ade helped the Englishman pick up his belongings, repeating the while, "I'm so sorry, I'm so sorry. I thought you were a friend of mine.

The Englishman laid a reassuring hand on Ade's arm and said very politely, "Oh, that's quite all right, old chap. But-er-tell me, does your friend care for this sort of thing?" —The Wall Street Journal.

The list of prize winners at a recent picnic was announced as follows:

"Mrs. Smith won the ladies' rolling pin throwing contest by hurling a pin 75 feet.

"Mr. Smith won the 100-yard dash."

Instructor Begins Classroom Work

Replacing Mrs. J. C. Dollard as language arts instructor is Miss Hazel Evelyn Kingsley from Decatur. Previous to her arrival in Canyon, Miss Kingsley taught in Olton High School, Olton, Texas, for three years.

Miss Kingsley attended Decatur Baptist College and received her B. S. degree from North Texas State.

A LAST RESORT

A farmer near Corning, Kan., whose son was an applicant for a position under the government, but who had been repeatedly turned down, said:

"Well, it's hard luck, but John has missed that civil service examination again. It looks like they just won't have him."

"What was the trouble?"

"Well, he was short on spellin' and geography, and missed purty fur in mathematics."

"What is he going to do about it?"

"I dunno. Times is mighty hard, and I reckon he'll have to go back teachin' school for a livin'."

"I wish I'd enough money to buy an elephant."

"What d'you want an elephant for."

"I don't. I want the money."

Kind Lady: How long is it since you have done any work?
Hobo: Pardon me, mum, but I'm sensitive about my age.

Scholars Organize Citizenship Clubs

Several classes in Canyon Grade School have organized citizenship clubs to foster good citizenship among the students, and to select the best citizens in the class each week.

In Mrs. A. K. Goodman's third grade the officers are: President, Bennie Mack Abbott; vice-president, John Miller; secretary, Joy Dean Harris; and program chairman, Elaine Cundiff.

President of Mrs. Robert Orton's first grade club is Shirley Ann McGehee, while the program committee is made up of Jim Bob McGehee, Frank Lill, and Laura Kinney.

Mrs. Mitchell Jones' fifth grade club president is John Brandt; vice-president, Tommy Gooch; secretary, Mary Jane Neill; treasurer, Iva Lou Wallen; and reporter, Don Johnson. Best citizens for last week were Iva Lou Wallen, Jonnie Stroup, and Latrice Kiker.

Sixth graders, under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Miller elected President, Joe Dean Abbott; vice-president, Alvin Risner; secretary, Anna Ray Morgan; treasurer, Charles Snapp; thrift chairman, Billy Jo McCarter; and good manners chairman, William Lindsay.

Students Produce Historical Skits

As a part of their American history studies, sixth grade students, under the supervision of Mrs. John Davis, produced a play, "The Life of Columbus."

In order that everyone might participate, committees were appointed for separate phases of Columbus' life. Gibner Satterwhite was in charge of Columbus' boyhood; Suzanne Owens, his appearance before the king and queen of Portugal; Marian McReynolds, his appearance in the Spanish court; Norris Root, the voyage across the Atlantic; and Mary Elizabeth Jennings, his return to Spain.

After four days of study and rehearsing, the students presented the play, using lines and costumes that they had planned.

NOT SO CRAZY

Once upon a time two men were crossing a large field. When they were right in the middle of the field, a big bull came charging toward them.

One of the men found a tree and climbed it as rapidly as possible. The other couldn't get to the tree in time, but, seeing a large, sociable-looking hole in the ground, he jumped into it.

The bull pretty nearly got him as he went down, but just missed him and jumped over the hole. The man came up again like a jack-in-the-box, the bull gave a snort and a jump at him. Down went the man and over went the bull, up came the man and back came the bull, till the man up in the tree got excited and called down: "You crazy fool, why don't you stay in that hole? You'll get that bull so mad he'll keep us here all summer."

"Crazy fool yourself," yelled the man below, "there's a bear in that hole!"

FHT Units Elect Representatives

Representatives of separate F. H. T. class units and officers of the local chapter gathered Thursday noon in the first meting of the F. H. T. council.

Four points introduced by last year's organization were accepted: (1) To maintain a functioning chapter with regular meetings, (2) To affiliate with the state Future Homemakers, (3) To complete a project that will help in the war effort, and (4) To contribute news items to state and area F. H. T. newspapers.

Annual candle-light initiation ceremonies will be presented to the CHS student body in assembly on November 5.

Officers of the class units who are delegates to the council are: chairman, Wilma Schuette; vice-chairman, Bobbie Graham, and secretary, Margaret Prichard, of the second year class. In the fourth period class, the chairman is Nell Drake; vice chairman, Ruth Prichard, and secretary, Bernice Anderwall; while the fifth period officers are: chairman, Johnnie Ford; and vice chairman, Louise Tucek.

Speer Designates Leader's Duties

In order to become better acquainted and to learn their duties for the following year, the sponsors and room mothers of Canyon High School met Tuesday, October 19.

Supt. J. B. Speer introduced the sponsors of the different classes, who in turn introduced their respective room parents. Mr. Speer gave a list of the duties that these sponsors and parents are to perform in the following year.

Mrs. D. M. Foster was appointed to be in charge of the high school's participation in the carnival, and she appointed the following women to help her: Mrs. J. J. Wright, Mrs. Lonnie Byars, and Mrs. R. C. Hillier.

AT HIS OWN GAME

An American visitor was being shown about the Australian bush, when a herd of bullocks made its appearance.

"What are those?" inquired the American.

"Bullocks, of course," came the reply.

"In America they are three times as big," was the comment.

A mob (an Australian does not say flock) of sheep followed, and again the visitor asked what they were.

"Sheep, of course," answered the Australian.

"Thought they were rabbits," said the American.

At last three kangaroos hopped along.

"What are those?" asked the American.

"Grasshoppers, of course. Beat that one, if you can!" came the triumphant rejoinder.

A small boy was asked to write an essay in as few words as possible on two of life's greatest problems. He wrote, "twins."

Jerking Jalopy Jars Jumping Occupants

A streak of black, red, and white came chugging down Fifth Street Monday during the lunch hour and jerked to a stop in the parking lot by Stroud's Store. Its occupants, Blake Zachry, Rose Hugg, Norma Zachry and Kenneth Vaughn, piled out one by one.

Everyone on the steps of CHS turned and stared while Max Dutton, a very brave lad, dared to walk closer to the contraption. As he conversed with the conductor, he gingerly lifted his foot to the bumper. Suddenly, a deafening clanging sound ensued, and the bumper fell boldly to the ground.

That's O. K. Blake. Even though it does nearly fall apart every time someone touches it, the conglomeration is still a car . . . one with FOUR nice, beautiful graceful and plump white side wall tires!

FFA Will Attend Hereford Meet

In preparation for the district F. F. A. meetings to be held Saturday, October 30, at Hereford, the entire F. F. A. organization has been practicing judging feeder, barrows, gilts, and dairy cattle. F. F. A. classes have been using practical application of this by judging at various farms around Canyon. Score cards are being made for the meeting. Government bulletins have been referred to in class study.

At their last meeting the boys completed plans for the carnival and discussed initiation of the green-hands.

Speer Presents Congress Aims

High School Pupils Choose Bonifield Congress Prexy

Receiving special recognition this week were the newly elected members of the Student Faculty Congress. For their installation and introduction to the students, the regular assembly met Thursday, October 21. Supt. J. B. Speer presented the aims and accomplishments of the Congress in giving its past history. The preamble to the Constitution of the Congress stood out, pre-eminent in that it expresses the main purposes for which the Student Faculty Congress was created. This preamble reads:

Preambles Sets Forth Aims

"We, the students of Canyon High School, in order to create a high spirit of service, do set forth the aims of the student body in a more concrete form, and to aid in the realization of these aims, do establish and ordain this constitution for the Student-Faculty Congress of the Canyon High School."

The Student Faculty Congress was organized two years ago under the supervision of J. F. Dickson and a temporary council. The aims they set forth have continued to remain in the minds of the delegates that followed this original group.

Qualifications of the members, as brought out by Mr. Speer, include scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and the prosperity of the school always in mind.

Officers in the Congress are elected by the members, with the exception of the president and vice-president, who are elected by the student body. The president and vice-president are elected from the Junior and Senior classes.

Bonifield is Prexy

Billy Jane Bonifield and Margaret Prichard, president and vice-president for this year, received the oath of office from Supt. Speer. Billy Jane in turn administered to the year's representatives of the council, this oath:

"I solemnly pledge that I will defend and support the constitution of the State of Texas, and the constitution of the Student-Faculty Congress of Canyon High School to the best of my ability, so help me God."

As is customary, the program began with the pledge of allegiance led by the acting president, Charles Hillier, and two songs, "Star Spangled Banner," and "Texas Our Texas," and ended with the singing of the school song.

TO PROVIDE MORE SOAP

An increase of about 9 per cent in the nation's soap supply, without using additional fats and oils, is expected under adjusted soap formulas recently prescribed by the War Food Administration. The formulas call for a larger use of domestic non-fat materials, principally rosin, as a substitute for fats.

CAN STILL SEND SOME GIFTS

Christmas packages for soldiers overseas which have been returned to the sender because of an improper address still may be mailed, according to the War Department. The original wrapper, bearing the indorsement, "Return To Sender, Insufficient Address," must be submitted with the correctly addressed package to prove that it originally was mailed before the October 15 deadline. Christmas packages also may be mailed to soldiers going overseas between now and Christmas. When the sender presents his package to the post office for mailing he must bring the Change of Address Form containing the APO address to which the package is being sent.

GET POINTS TO SEND FOOD OVERSEAS

Persons who wish to send a package of rationed food overseas may get the necessary points by applying to OPA. Those who wish to have the dealer from whom the food is bought arrange for shipment, may make the purchase without giving up ration stamps, since OPA will replace the point value of the foods the dealer exprots. When extra ration points are issued, a copy of the Export Declaration or a Certificate of Mailing must be turned over to the OPA office which grants the points.

RETURN RATION BOOKS IN MAIL

Finders of lost ration books may drop them in the mail without prepaying postage or enclosing them in envelopes, according to OPA. On payment of a five cent postage due charge, the Post Office Department will return the lost book to the person whose name and address appear on the cover. When the addressee cannot be found, the post office will forward the book to the nearest rationing board.

TO PRODUCE MORE HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Increased production of cast iron skillets, kettles, dutch ovens, and flat irons for household, institution, commercial, and other uses is permitted under a recent revision of WPB Order.

TO COLLECT OLD CLOTHING, RAGS

A nation-wide collection campaign for discarded clothing, used fabrics, and rags is being planned to meet heavy industrial and military requirements for wiping cloths, according to WPB. Officials emphasized that they do not want clothes that the owner will wear again or can use. The discarded clothing also will be used for local relief and relief and rehabilitation purposes abroad. Materials collected will be separated and classified for best possible use. It is expected that the collection program will be handled by individual states and communities.

URGES FARMERS TO COLLECT SCRAP

In support of the all-out "Victory Scrap Bank" drive to collect iron and steel scrap, Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has urged farmers to comb their farms for all possible scrap. Pointing out that next to industry, the greatest source of heavy scrap is the American farm. Mr. Jones said,—"American farmers are doing the greatest food production job in history. However, if we are to insure ample steel for wartime production, millions of tons of scrap iron and steel must come from our farms in the next six weeks."

TIRE HELP FOR TRUCK OWNERS

Truck owners who have tire rationing certificates but are unable to get tires because local quotas are used up and those operators unable to get ration certificates because of depletion of quotas soon may get help through the Office of Defense Transportation. Instructions on procedure for reporting such cases soon will be issued to the 142 ODT district managers. After cases are reported ODT will clear shortages with the Office of the Rubber Director in an effort to get the necessary tires.

CORN PRICES SET

Maximum prices for white ear corn are 2½ cents per bushel less than shell yellow or white corn of like quality and grade, under a recent OPA ruling. White snapped corn is 3½ cents per bushel less. The Commodity Credit Corporation will continue to pay the corn producer for any advances in the maximum price of corn, through December 31, 1943.

REPORT ON THIRD WAR LOAN

Final figures for the Third War Loan showed $18,943,000,000 worth of bonds sold, Under Secretary of the Treasury, Daniel W. Bell reported recently. Sales to individuals the first objective of the drive, exceeded the five billion dollar quota by 377 million dollars.

USE SYNTHETIC RUBBER FOR ELASTIC THREAD

Synthetic rubber may eventually be used in garters, suspenders, foundation garments, and underwear. All restrictions on the manufacture of elastic thread made with synthetic rubber have been suspended by WPB until April 1, 1944.

MORE PAINTS FOR CIVILIANS

Civilian requirements for essential paints and varnishes will be more nearly met as a result of the recent amendment of Food Distribution Order 42, the WPB has reported. The order increased from 50% to 60% the amount of drying oils that can be consumed in paints, varnishes, and lacquers.

56 PRISONER OF WAR CAMPS

More than 140,000 prisoners of war are now held in 56 permanent camps in the U. S., the War Department has reported. The ratio of Germans to Italians is approimately three to one. In addition to the permanent camps, there are many temporary ones set up to house prisoners in areas with labor shortages. Agricultural work done by prisoners includes harvesting fruit, tomatoes, potatoes, peanuts, cotton, sugar beets and corn. Only a few prisoners have escaped and every one of them has been recaptured in a few hours.

FAS BORROWERS REPAY LOANS

Families buying farms under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act have paid 26% more of their loans than the proportion necessary to pay out in full over the 40-year period, the War Food Administration has stated. These payments "ahead of schedule" are the result of a variable payment plan followed by 77% of the borrowers. Under this plan families are billed for smaller than average amounts in poor years, but are billed for larger than average payments when good incomes justify it.

LAWYERS AID SOLDIERS RECOVERY

Army and civilian lawyers are aiding Army Medical Officers in bringing about the speed recovery of wounded troops by providing free legal advice which clears up perplexing financial problems and other difficulties which may confront the soldier. This service, provided overseas as well as at home, gives the soldier the peace of mind which is necessary for proper response to medical treatment, the War Department reports.

WILL HAVE ENOUGH CIGARETTES

Supplies of cigarettes will continue to be sufficient in volume and quality to meet the demands of U. S. civilians, according to a recent report by the War Food Administration.

Left to right, front row, Evelyn Carrol models a square pair about 150 years old, and Barbara Benedict gazes through a pair of split bifocals invented by Benjamin Franklin; middle row, Marie Johnson shows a pair with hand-forged iron frames of the Revolutionary era, Elaine Franke wears early French opera glasses, and Evelyn Enger displays a leather-framed pair traced to the year 1500 and believed to be the first type worn by man; back row, Marie Moore wields an early Italian lorgnette, and Agnes Millington, with pince-nez of vintage 1800.

THOMPSON'S

The Grocer, Butcher, Baker, Housemaid and the Rent Man...

Have had their pay raised in recent months—but that over-willing, always ready, never-complaining servant, willing and ready to work for you day or night, in foul weather and fair—

YOUR ELECTRIC SERVANT

Never Complains, Never Quits

Is Always On Time—but more—

HASN'T ASKED FOR AND DOESN'T EXPECT A SINGLE CENT MORE OF PAY

THAN SHE ASKED FOR TWO OR THREE YEARS AGO

As a matter of fact—Electric Servant—about that time not only didn't ask even for a raise in pay, but voluntarily came to you and told you that henceforth despite higher-war time prices, she was going to take a reduction in pay—and refused to accept even as much as she used to work for.

Yes sir, despite higher prices for everything else, Electric Light and Power rates are ACTUALLY LESS by from 10 to 20 per cent today, depending on class of service used—less by 50 to 100 per cent than they were a few years ago—and pardon us for saying so—in Canyon in Randall county—in this entire area, Service has been vastly increased and improved—with big generating plants—which make uninterrupted service possible—in any kind of weather—good or bad.

Wayside Items

Rev. Jack Reeves of Wayland College, Plainview, delivered a good sermon to a fair crowd.

Our community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Julia Howard last Wednesday night. She had been in failing health for a number of years. She leaves her husband, 5 children, 1 grand child, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her going. She was a member of the Baptist Church. Rev. Todd of Happy conducted the funeral services at the Wayside Church. She was laid to rest in the Wayside Cemetery.

Lois Gillham of Loveland, Colo., visited last week in the parental D. L. Adams home.

Mrs. E. A. Franklin writes from Mulino, Oregon, that she is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitley announce the arrival of a baby girl, Oct. 5. They are employed on the A. L. Stevens farm.

George Hancock and family of Dumas visited Saturday night and Sunday in the parental W. I. Lane home.

Wanda and Malcolm Harral have lately moved to their father's farm north of Wayside.

Mr. and Mrs. Jr. Roy and Geraldine Dodson of Tulia were week end guests in the Roy Dodson and Willis Fisher homes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Malone of Amarillo visited last week in the J. R. Stockett home.

Guests in the J. R. Stockett home Sunday were his mother, Mrs. Stockett from Arizona, also a sister, Mrs. Kitty Love from Arizona, Mr. Wiley Stockett and daughter of Bethel, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stockett and little son, Ray, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Love, all of near Tulia, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stockett, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers and Carol Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kennedy and son, also Grady Kennedy and family.

We are having ideal fall weather. The trees and shrubbery are still in full leaf.

Loyce and Cloyce Knox are home on furlough. They are twin sons of Mrs. Lizzie Knox and are stationed in Oklahoma.

Cull Poultry Flock To Get Highest Egg Production

One of the surest ways poultry producers can make the best use of available feed supplies is to cull all non-layers and low producers from their flocks, says W. G. Sanderson, Canyon High agriculture teacher.

"With feed supplies short, rigid culling of the flock is more important than ever before," he said. "By removing the low producing and unprofitable birds, the owner will have relatively more feed for the higher producing hens and in this way can get more eggs from his feed supply."

To get rid of poor layers, first remove all birds that are sick or otherwise unsound. A cripple or weak hen will not pay, and eventually will come down with disease. It is important, thereore, to remove birds that are sick or lame, decidedly undersized or underweight, or that have deformities or weaknesses of their backs, legs, breast or wings.

Good culling also calls for removing all mature hens that are yellow-legged and fat. Vigorous birds with red combs and wattles, bleached bead and legs, and a thin, pliable abdomen, are usually in production.

In culling, cautioned Mr. Sanderson consideration should be given to whether the birds have had a fair chance to lay. Low production may be caused by improper feeding, crowded and unsanitary conditions, lice, mites, or intestinal worms.

Ability to cull is easily acquired, but is best learned through actual handling of birds under experienced guidance. Poultry owners who cannot cull satisfactorily should call upon some neighbor or other experienced person to help them get the needed skill.

When Johnny's mother asked him if one of his new friends was an only child, he looked wise and triumphant.

"He's got just one sister", Johnny replied. "He tried to tell me he had two half sisters, but I guess I know enough fractions for that."

The second day drew to its close with the twelfth juryman still unconvinced.

"Well, gentlemen," said the court officer, entering quietly, "shall I order twelve dinners, as usual?"

"Make it," said the foreman, "eleven dinners and a bale of hay."

"Bobby, where are those tarts your mother put in this jar last night?"

"I guess, gran', they must have vanished into the empty heir."
